Importation of agricultural regulated products into the Republic of South Africa during the World Economic Forum on Africa event, 04 to 06 September 2019, South Africa

The Department of Agriculture, Forestry and Fisheries (DAFF) is making a friendly call to all international travellers who will be visiting South Africa for the World Economic Forum on Africa event to be held in South Africa from 04 to 06 September, to comply with the country's import requirements for agricultural and related regulated products/articles. Compliance will assist our country in preventing and minimising the potential risk of introducing alien invasive species, foreign pests and diseases that could be associated with imported plants, plant products, animals, animal products and other regulated goods. The above courtesy reminder is not limited to the attendees of the above event but also directed to anyone visiting South Africa at any time of the year.

South Africa, like any other country, has a crucial mandate and sovereign right to protect its territory, biodiversity and economy against harm, therefore it regulates importation of animals and animal products, liquor products, plants and plant products and honey and honey products, as well as any other potentially harmful materials from other countries into its territory. This is in accordance with the country's relevant legislation, which is aimed at preventing the introduction, establishment and spread of pests and diseases from other parts of the world. Once a quarantine pest or disease is introduced into the country, it is difficult and expensive to control and manage, therefore prevention is imperative.

Furthermore, the importation of certain liquor products with an alcohol content of more than 1% into the country for drinking purposes is restricted, except on the authority of an import certificate issued by DAFF.

Please note that import conditions may differ according to the country of origin/export, global pest distribution, type of products, etc. Travellers are therefore advised to contact DAFF offices for detailed information regarding the product to be imported:
