

Minister's Women's Month Message

*A*s we celebrate Women's Month, we remember the contribution made by women to the struggle for liberation; as well as their contribution towards building a just, non-sexist and non-racial South Africa.

We remember those who went before us—their struggles, resilience and triumph which continue to inspire and motivate us today.

As cadres of our society and employees of government, let us do our part in growing South Africa together. May we bring hope to the landless and marginalised by acting ethically and with conscience. Let us be the human face of our democratic state.

I wish all the women in our department and entities a Happy Women's Month.

Wathint'abafazi wathint' imbokodo!
